Johanna,

For Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM), JDI is shining a spotlight on rape in juvenile detention facilities. Right now, you can help bring attention to this crisis by sharing this new JDI infographic.

The juvenile justice system is supposed to help troubled kids get back on track. Yet far too often, kids who get caught in the system are sexually abused. Nationwide, about one in ten children in juvenile detention endures this abuse in a year.

Sergio was one of those kids. When he arrived at an Illinois youth facility, the staff put him in a cell with a boy who was known to have sexually abused other youth. Though he escaped an assault on the first night, the next day his cellmate's friends — with the help of a staff member — cornered Sergio. They beat and sexually assaulted Sergio, causing him lasting pain and humiliation.

As JDI's infographic shows, Sergio's story is depressingly common. Will you share the facts about sexual abuse in youth detention? Today, please join JDI in commemorating SAAM, and in honoring young survivors like Sergio.

Sincerely,

Lovisa Stannow
Executive Director

P.S. Throughout April, JDI will be posting infographics on social media that shed light on sexual violence in youth detention. Make sure you're following JDI on Twitter and Facebook, so that you can help spread the word about this crisis.

THE FATHER ABSENCE CRISIS IN AMERICA

There is a crisis in America. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 24 million children in America—one out of three—live without their biological father in the home. Consequently, there is a “father factor” in nearly all of the societal ills facing America today. Research shows when a child is raised in a father-absent home, he or she is affected in the following ways...

The Father Absence Crisis in America [Infographic]

Posted by Ryan Sanders

There is a crisis in America. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 24 million children in America—one out of three—live without their biological dad in the home.

Consequently, there is a “father factor” in nearly all of the societal issues facing America today. We must realize there is a father absence crisis in America and begin to raise more involved, responsible, and committed fathers.

Research shows when a child grows up in a father-absent home, he or she is...

1) Four Times More Likely to Live in Poverty

- Children in father-absent homes are almost four times more likely to be poor. (U.S. Census Bureau)

2) More Likely to Suffer Emotional and Behavioral Problems

- Children of single mothers show higher levels of aggressive behavior than children born to married mothers. (Journal of Marriage and Family)

3) Two Times Greater Risk of Infant Mortality

- Infant mortality rates are nearly two times higher for infants of unmarried mothers than for married mothers. (National Center for Health Statistics)

4) More Likely to Go to Prison

- One in five prison inmates had a father in prison. (Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs)

5) More Likely to Commit Crime

- Study of juvenile offenders indicated that family structure significantly predicts delinquency. (Journal of Youth and Adolescence)
