

Our office was honored to recently take part in the Tools and Strategies for Rural Opioid Work conference held in Quincy, Ca on August 28th and 29th, 2018. The event was sponsored and organized by the Plumas County Public Health Agency in conjunction with the Northern Sierra Opioid Safety Coalition. Alternative Sentencing Program Manager, Stephanie Tanaka was one of the few local presenters, pictured here she is speaking about Plumas County's' innovative criminal justice programs that incorporate harm reduction methods into our local jail and pretrial release programs. Stephanie along with all of the other presenters did an amazing job discussing the unique challenges faced by rural communities and creative collaborative ways to overcome those challenges while addressing this nationwide epidemic.
