Plumas County schedules first workshop in redistricting process

Plumas County to work with experts, census data, and communities to define Supervisorial districts

Quincy, Calif. (September 9, 2021) – Plumas County has scheduled the first meeting in the 2021 redistricting process. Every ten years, local governments use new census data to redraw their district lines to reflect how local populations have changed. State law requires cities and counties to engage communities in the redistricting process by holding public hearings, workshops and conducting public outreach. Plumas County is working to engage residents in the process through community-based outreach and online at the County's website:

The first hearing for the redistricting process will be a workshop to introduce the community to the process of redistricting. This workshop is scheduled for Saturday, September 18, 2021 from 1:00-2:30 p.m. at the Veteran's Hall, located at 274 Lawrence Street, Quincy, CA, 95971. The meeting will also be available via zoom.

“Though we are currently in a state of emergency, we are eager to move forward with an inclusive, interactive and transparent redistricting process,” said Plumas County Administrator, Gabriel Hydrick. “Using technology during this time will allow us to engage the community in this process to redraw our district boundaries to best reflect the unique communities that define our great county.”

About Plumas County:

Plumas County is located near the northeast corner of California, up where the Sierra and the Cascade mountains meet. The Feather River, with its several forks, flows through the county.

The county boasts more than 100 lakes and 1,000 miles of rivers and streams with over a million acres of national forest. With less than nine people per square mile, this rural, four seasons mountain retreat offers beauty, solitude, and clean air.
